I. FACTORS CONSIDERED

18 U.S.C. § 3142:

(g) Factors to be considered.--The judicial officer shall, in determining whether there are conditions of release that will reasonably assure the appearance of the person as required and the safety of any other person and the community, take into account the available information concerning--

(1) The nature and circumstances of the offense charged, including whether the offense is a crime of violence, a Federal crime of terrorism, or involves a minor victim or a controlled substance, firearm, explosive, or destructive device;

(2) the weight of the evidence against the person;

(3) the history and characteristics of the person, including--

(A) the person's character, physical and mental condition, family ties, employment, financial resources, length of residence in the community, community ties, past conduct, history relating to drug or alcohol abuse, criminal history, and record concerning appearance at court proceedings; and

(B) whether, at the time of the current offense or arrest, the person was on probation, on parole, or on other release pending trial, sentencing, appeal, or completion of sentence for an offense under Federal, State, or local law; and

(4) the nature and seriousness of the danger to any person or the community that would be posed by the person's release.

II.

FINDINGS

As to factor:

(g)(1): The nature and circumstances of the offense charged involve the use of controlled substances. The defendant is serving a term of supervised release for a conviction of possession with intent to distribute cocaine base. The violations of the defendant show that on five separate occasions he has been using controlled substances, that being marijuana while he was serving his term of supervised release.

(g)(2): The weight of the evidence against the person appears to be strong and significant. On two occasions, the defendant has admitted that he has been using marijuana.

(g)(3): The history and characteristics of the person

(A) Family ties, employment, financial resources, length of residence in the community, community ties, past conduct, history relating to drug or alcohol abuse, criminal history and record concerning appearance at court appearances indicate that the defendant has family ties, he has had employment but is presently unemployed, and has a long length of residence in the community. In regard to the defendant's history relating to drug or alcohol abuse, the defendant was convicted in June of 2001 of possession of drug paraphernalia and solicitation to commit a felony, to wit, possession of a schedule II controlled substance, that being cocaine. The defendant was further convicted and sentenced on July 25, 2002 of possession with intent to distribute cocaine base.

In addition to the above referenced offenses, the defendant was convicted of shoplifting on July 23, 1993, driving while license suspended on August 8, 1994, possession of stolen goods on May 15, 1996, resisting an officer on June 12, 2001.

The defendant's record concerning appearance at court appearances shows that the defendant appears in court as he is scheduled to do.

(B) At the time of the current offense or arrest, the defendant was on probation, parole or other release pending trial, sentencing, appeal or completion of sentence. It appears that this factor does exist. The defendant was serving a term of supervised release which he is alleged to have violated.

(g)(4): The nature and seriousness of the danger to any person or the community that would be posed by the person's release indicate that the release of the defendant would create a risk of harm or danger to any other person or the community. The defendant tested positive for the use of marijuana on May 7, 2008, May 15, 2008, December 23, 2008 and February 12, 2009. These positive tests for the use of controlled substances while he is serving a term of supervised release shows by clear and convincing evidence that the release of the defendant would create a risk of harm or danger to any other person or the community. The continued use of controlled substances creates such a harm or danger. As a result, the undersigned has determined to enter an order detaining the defendant.

WHEREFORE, it is ORDERED that the defendant be detained pending further proceedings in this matter.
